The Do’s and Don’ts of Employee Appreciation During Tough Times

Appreciation is always vital to your organizational culture and employee engagement, but it is especially so when you are dealing with a crisis. During this session you’ll learn the common traps that organizations fall into and what you should never do when it comes to sharing meaningful appreciation. We’ll also talk about what you should be doing as a leader to spread hope, positivity and thanks to team members who are doing so much.

Objectives

1. Discover when appreciation can cause more harm than good.
2. Recognize why current appreciation efforts may not be meeting team members’ needs.
3. Utilize recognition techniques that are meaningful to each individual.

When: May 27, 2020 03:00 PM Eastern Time (US and Canada)

(Today) Understanding Social Isolation Series Part 1: What it is, Why it Matters and How it’s Measured

Wednesday, May 27, 2020

AARP Foundation, with the American Society on Aging, explores the health impacts of social isolation among older adults, and looks at current recommendations and solutions to prevent and mitigate its negative effects. This timely series comes at an unprecedented moment in America, as the novel coronavirus thrusts millions of older adults into greater physical isolation from family, friends and neighbors. As these events unfold, it will be more important than ever for healthcare professionals and those in the aging services sector to understand the importance of social connections and strategies to support healthy social engagement and inclusion. Register for this two-part web seminar to learn about the latest research, screening and measurement methods, recommendations and best practices.

Taking Care of Your Mental Health and Well Being: Warning Signs of Trauma, Anxiety and Depression

May 27, 2020, 6:00 pm - 7:00 pm

This session, led by Dr. Brent Forester, will identify key components of mental health and ways to care for yourself during these challenging times of COVID-19. Due to significant losses direct care staff are experiencing on the front line, it is important to recognize symptoms of trauma, anxiety and depression. Everyone experiences trauma differently, based on their own life experiences. By recognizing symptoms, professionals can identify warning signs of clinical depression, significant anxiety and post-traumatic stress disorder that may warrant further evaluation by a medical professional. Attendees will have the

What Challenges are People with Chronic Disease Facing in the New COVID-19 Environment?
May 28, 2020 03:00 PM
People with chronic conditions have always faced considerable challenges to manage their conditions. In an age of COVID-19, they face many new challenges, including not getting the routine care they need to monitor and manage their chronic disease. In this month’s General Member Webinar, Dr. Betsy Thompson, Director of the Division for Heart Disease and Stroke Prevention at CDC and a Rear Admiral in the U.S. Public Health Service will discuss some of these challenges we should understand and look at approaches that can help us inform the public in our states and territories.

Webinar 5/28: Navigating Provider Transformation
Webinar on Thursday, May 28 at 3:00 - 4:30 pm ET.
ACL and the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) are hosting a monthly Webinar series to assist states and stakeholders in developing high quality programs to address social determinants of health (SDOH) and provider capacity building in home-and community-based services (HCBS). The series will focus on best practices in a number of key areas, including person-centered planning, guardianship reform, aligning HCBS policy with SDOH, housing, employment, community inclusion, transportation, and more. This webinar will feature resources and projects on provider transformation from congregate settings into community integration. The U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) Office of Disability Employment Policy (ODEP) will start by discussing the National Expansion of Employment Opportunities Network (NEON) grant for competitive integrated employment. Attendees will hear from nonprofit organizations on operational implications... of transitioning congregate day services and sheltered workshops to those that are truly person-centered and community-based. There will be ample time for questions and discussion.

Rural Primary Care Tools and Resources for Managing Suicidal Ideation During COVID-19
Jun 2, 2020 02:00 PM in Central Time
Mental health professionals are predicting an increase in suicidal ideation as a result of the coronavirus pandemic (COVID-19). Part of the explanation has been tied to financial stress, role balance, and isolation. Individuals in rural communities may be experiencing these risks for suicidal ideations more acutely given rural people already disproportionately struggle with isolation and poverty. In rural communities primary care providers are an integral member of the mental health workforce and can play a pivotal role in identifying and managing suicidal ideation in their patients.

Dementia Workforce Development: Two Models to Prepare for the Future
(National Alzheimer’s and Dementia Resource Center (NADRC) Webinar – June 16, 2020)
An introduction to critical issues in the dementia workforce will be presented. The CATCH-ON program at Rush University Medical Center is addressing workforce needs in unique ways through its Geriatric Workforce Enhancement Program. Dr. Erin Emery-Tiburcio will discuss various aspects of CATCH-ON, including the development of Dementia Friendly Communities in Illinois and resources for building your local dementia workforce. A second dementia workforce program example will be provided by Ms. Katelyn Marschall. Ms. Marschall will provide an overview of the Wisconsin Dementia Care Specialist Program and how the Dementia Care Specialist Program impacts people with dementia and their families. Practical resources for dementia professionals developed for use in community-based settings will also be provided.
